Mrs. Walter Jennings is chairman of the committee in charge, and associated with her are Mrs. Cornelius N. Bliss, Jr.; Mrs. Payne Whitney, Mrs. Henry G. Gray, Mrs. Clarence Hay, Miss Florence Loew and Mrs. Graham P. Blandy.

The junior committee includes Misses Joan Lockwood, Josephine Dodge, Florence Lockwood, Rosalind Borland, Nina Ryan, Cornelia Sarge, Misses Adeline Ryan, Katherine Boston, Constance Jennings, Gertrude and Jane Sanford, Wenden Mathews, Nancy and Birks Yulie, Fanny Billings and Dorothy Sharpe. Boxes may be obtained from Miss Florence Loew at 262 Madison avenue and orchestra seats from Mrs. Walter Jennings at 9 East Seventy-seventh street.

The object of the New York Hospital Social Service is to extend to patients both care and supervision after they leave the hospital, thus avoiding a waste of the weeks of care given at the hospital. There also is extended to the families of the patients both care and aid, thus giving ease and comfort to the patient and helping to maintain the self-respect of the family. The doctors have found that those patients who have not to worry over the welfare of their families recover much more rapidly than those who have the burden of a poorly supplied home on their minds.
